The 231 Napier Street project by Edition Office for property developer Milieu brings refined contemporary detail to everyday living.

Marble is a mainstay in the hubs of the home. The arresting green of the Verde Alpi marble in this kitchen in the 231 Napier Street, Edition Office for Milieu project even influenced the choice of teal-toned cabinetry. "The colour was chosen to enhance the reading of the volumetric and spatial qualities of the kitchen element, to act in contrast with the muted backdrop of the warm grey interior and natural flooring," says Kim Bridgland, director of Edition Office. This refined space is also kitted out with Smeg appliances — including a four-burner cooktop, concealed undermount rangehood and a Thermoseal oven — for cooking innovation that matches the timeless appeal of this space.
